Preparation

April 30, 1849

Millions of stars are looking down on these rolling plains of Western Missouri where the many tracks of the California Trail curve out from this town of Independence across the Line into the Indian territory beyond. On every side, as far as you can see tonight, earthly "stars" — the campfires of all this multitude of eager, restless Forty-Niners — twinkle on the ground, being fed by members of the most excited army that was ever assembled in the New World, every one impatient for mud to dry and spring grass to grow so that these shaggy regiments can get on their way.

So wrote Archer Butler Hulbert in a reconstructed chronicle of the California Trail. Just as months of preparation had gone into the building, the equipping, and the journeying thus far of the sixteen wagons of this "most excited army" so have years of preparation gone into the class of '49. It seems best, therefore, to call this first section of our salute to the Forty-Niners — Preparation. And didn't we prepare — algebra, class elections, money-raising campaigns, collections of bugs, themes for English class, etc.? There was many a wide river to cross. Here you will see the freshmen, sophomores and juniors. Here is the faculty at work. Here are various practice camps or classes and some memorable school scenes of our preparation.

Coordination

May 4, 1849

Our camp-fire last night felt good after a hammer-and-tongs thunderstorm that struck us a mile or two from camp. Dozens of outfits were scattered along the creek, and we all pooled forces and made a fire worth remembering.

May 13—Captain Meeks says, "Write this down in your hat in big letters. We must help our full share. Otherwise we'll have a gruesome feeling of going forward over the dead bodies of fellow men. Lend a hand."

May 27-29—While our leaders carry out a semblance of a military guard, its real purpose is to keep skulking thieves from getting to our mules and horses.

"It's not the high mountains ner great rivers ner hostile Injuns," says Meek, "that'll give us most grief. It's the long grind o' doin' every day's work regler an' no let-up fer nobody ner nothin'."

Driving their wagons into circles on short notice, and fighting off Indian attacks did become grueling, but how about those campfire songs? So do we Forty-Niners get tired of every day's "regler" work and so we lend a hand in combining the daily work and the extra-curricular joys. It's only a matter of pooling forces to fend off boredom and monotony.

By the way, did you lend a hand in Band, Glee Club, Commercial Club, Red Cross, or Sports? How was your coordination in G. A. A.? Did you join the Home Ec Club, Speech Club or Rifle Club? Did you go on the Phi-Chem trip? Did you sell magazines? Were you in a play? Were you a Booster?

The Terrific Trojans Do It Again

For the second time in a period of three years, the Elmhurst "Big Nine" came through with the county laurels. The team burned up the county; and then, on the heels of a 4 game winning streak, breezed into tournament competition. Here again they demonstrated that their booming bats could not be quieted; and behind good pitching, they defeated the Harlan Hawks, last year's champs, by the score of 5 to 3. Certainly most of the credit should go to our manager, "General" Don Fryback, and coach, Don Weaver, without whose drive and determination we could not have attained our goal.

Trojan Harriers Set a Pace

Talk about brand new gold rushes! Elmhurst sportsmen had one this year. Eight boys turned out for "General" Fryback's instructions in cross country running. Although their training period was very short, the General's boys learned the fundamentals of running and opened the way for the team for next year. That practice run to Bluffton, over twenty miles, was some trek for these prospectors.

At the Kendallville meet, Norm "Speedy" Stanek ran the course in nine minutes and fifty-five seconds to win first place. Art Gaunt, Trojan 880-yard runner, took eleventh place honors and finished second of his teammates.

At Decatur, Stanek placed third in the two mile heat. Bob Hamilton finished two minutes behind "Speedy" Stanek.

Irvin Gaunt and Tom Kunneke, freshmen, and Norm Stanek and Art Gaunt, juniors, will carry on for the harriers next year.

Back Row: Mildred Lee, Marilee Hardisty, Martha Coleman, Carolyn Valentine, Patsie Beaman, Janet Myer

Front Row: Nancy Christle, Sec.; Pat Burns, Unorganized Sports; Beverly Miller, Treas.; Sharon Scherer, Pres.; Betty Bredemeyer, Vice-Pres.; Barbara Beerman, Organized Sports

Under the leadership of Mrs. McClure, the G. A. A. strives to create a love for sports among girls. Each Tuesday and Thursday noon they show their pioneer caliber by playing volley-ball, basketball or softball. Unorganized sports such as skating, swimming and tennis also help the girls to get points needed for a letter or plaque. By participation in sports they learn the rules and therefore can more enjoy watching others play.

Rifle Club

B. Bredemeyer, Sec.; E. Umber, Vice-pres.; W. Hadley, Pres.; B. Beerman, Treas.

Yep, we aim at Forty Notches, we do. We also aim at better Sportsmanship and fair play. Meetings for the boys are held every Monday and Wednesday evenings after school. The girls meet on Tuesday evenings. Besides our regular practice, the club shot many matches. They were: The Hurst Trophy Match, War Department Matches, N. R. A. bi-weekly and intramural matches. Mr. Eickhoff and Mr. Weaver led the triggernometry experts the first semester; Mr. Weaver guided the Forty Notchers the second semester.

Booster Club

Ted Kunneke, Treas.; Art Wilkie, Pres.; Lois Burns, Vice-Pres.; Lu Ann Allen, Sec.

"The Booster Club is no free-for-all affair this year," said Sponsor Doell. Four members outstanding in service, interest, scholarship, salesmanship, and school spirit were chosen by the faculty. These four became the officers and picked the rest of the club, about thirty-five Juniors and Seniors. They toned down the roarin' and rampagin' and set a good example to the student body by helping the cheerleaders, selling confections, selling booster supplies and boosting the school. (Old Timer, those decorations were for Santy Claus.)

The Spirit of '49

Boom! Boom! Boom! When you hear that, Old Timer, you'll know it's the last period and that the band is practicing marching. The band keeps its eye on the rainbow gold of trophies for marching and awards for achievement in the spring contests. Under Mr. Doell's direction, the band has captured much golden loot and several first places. Every Wednesday strains of music can be heard from the gym where the dance band plays for noon hour jigging. Next to our team, the band is the most important group at our home game diggings. At the county tourney we thrill to our red and gray oompah. Another main feature between the halves of the games is the exhibition of the twirlers. (You'd bug yore eyes, Old Timer.) M. Wuebbenhorst is president; C. Sheets, vice-president; J. Venderly, secretary; A. Wilkie, treasurer. Whoopie (Wuebbenhorst) is drum major.

Commercial Club

Dick Kortokrax, Treas.; Phyllis Scott, V.-Pres.; Joann Adams, Sec.; Philip Scott, Pres.

The members of the Commercial Club are truly preparing to become gold seekers in the business world via bookkeeping, typing and shorthand. Miss Edwards and Mr. Fryback supervise their class and club activities. They engaged in golden prospectin' this year by giving a sport dance, taking trips to check up on the needs of commercial workers, and assisting in the office. Where would Annie be without super typists?

Phi-Chem Club

Ted Kunneke, Sec.-Treas.; Dick Young, Pres.; Susan Giffin, Experimenter; Dick Elzay, V.-Pres.; Jeanne Greer, Experimenter.

We gave all our samples of gold dust to the Phi-Chem Club to assay. To increase interest in the fields of chemistry and physics, they halted our wagon train awhile and took a short course at I. U. Here, under the leadership of Miss Wimmer and Mr. Weaver, they presented experiments. Dick Elzay was elected president of the Junior Academy of Science, a state-wide group; Ted Logan was chosen the best boy scientist of Indiana and won a trip to Washington, D. C.

Home Ec Club

Phyllis Scott, Pres.; Model, Corky Cox; Helen Stout, Student Adviser; Betty Truelove, Sec.-Treas.; Editha Feighner, Vice-Pres.

"And I'll stand out in buttons and bows," says Corky to the Queens of the Home who again put red letter days on the school calendar. Mrs. Bleke sponsored the fifty members. Leave it to the Queens to send clothing to the needy overseas. At the beginning of the year, the club halted the wagon train long enough to hold a skating party. The 1948-1949 trek was ended with the awarding of letters and pins at the annual banquet.

Red Cross Club

Doug Brooks, V.-Pres.; Sally Wilson, Sec.-Treas.; Lois Burns, Chief Monitor; Curly German, Pres.

When the Red Crossers meet in the gym, they are Roarin' Forty-Niners. Why? Well, Old Timer, there are 400 members in this service caravan. Miss Wimmer is their wagon-master. They serve the school by helping in the office, in the library and by being hall monitors; for this work they earn E's. This club sponsors all charity drives, the T. B. chest X-rays, the March of Dimes, and the Junior Red Cross membership drive. They also decorate the halls with holly in December.

Advance Staff

Standing: M. E. Smith, Make up Editor; P. Burns, Point Keeper; D. Beck, Exchange Editor; D. Deam, Sports Editor; B. Shanebeck, Feature Editor; R. Corbitt, Circulation Manager; Miss Spore, Adviser

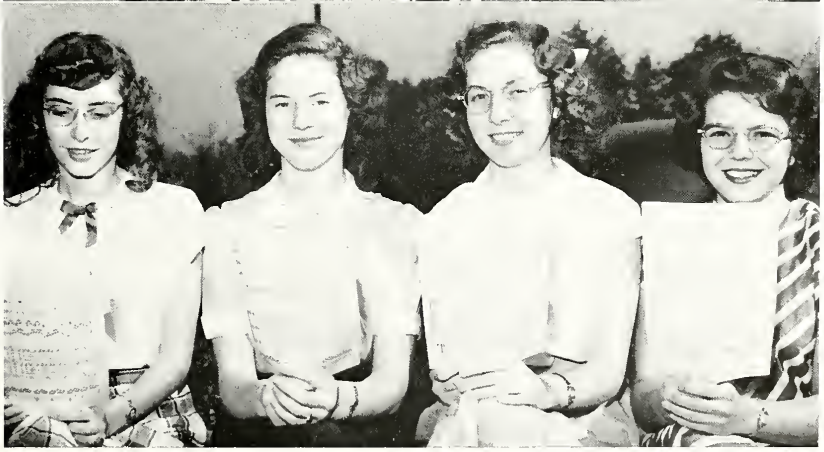
Seated: J. Greer, News Editor; T. Logan, Assistant Editor; J. Kinnaman, Business Manager; S. Giffin Editor; D. Engelman, Advertising; P. Scott, Chief Copy Reader; K. McKeeman, Assistant Business Mgr.

The Advance Staff, by working under the leadership of Miss Spore and Mr. Fryback, try to edit the kind of school paper E. H. S. students want and enjoy. They keep scouts on the lookout for the latest fads and activities of the covered wagoners. The Advance, now in its eighteenth year of publication, strives to create a better spirit and to foster good citizenship among the members of our overland caravan.

Glee Club

Editha Feighner, Treas.; Carolyn Roth, Sec.; Beverly Jean Johnson, Pres.; Geraldine Genth, Vice-Pres.

We could not start off for California without a song. Every day the last period, room 9 resounds with the music pouring forth from the girls of the Glee Club. Mr. Nicodemus stresses both the joy of and the skill in singing. On the last Wednesday of each month, the girls take time off from preparing for a program or a contest and hold a formal club meeting. Their traditional hoedown co-ordinated both music and dancing.



Magazine Salesmen

Back Row: B. Schoeph, rank 2; W. Boehler, rank 11; R. Stoller, rank 7; P. Haag, rank 14; C. Geake rank 15; D. Briant rank 8; J. Buell, rank 10; L. Kronmiller, rank 4; D. Grepke, rank 6; D. Combs, rank 13; R. Mitchell, rank 3

Front row: J. Shappell, rank 9; B. Hamilton, first rank; D. Brooks, rank 5; A. Wilkie, rank 12

The magazine salesmen like true Conquistadores this year found a mother lode of gold. For their efforts, Elmhurst received a good salesmanship trophy from the Curtis Publishing Company. They sold $4,350 worth of magazines. Mr. Eickhoff led this campaign to pay for assembly programs. B. Hamilton and A. Wilkie announced each day's results over the loud speaker. The high room or the knockout room received boxing gloves; the low room got a mangled inner tube. Room 14 with a total of $680 dug up the most sales per capita. Of this amount, Forty-Niner Bob Hamilton brought in $312. He led room 14, a room where everyone sold magazines. Beverly Schoeph with $125.80 led room 15 which won second place.

Speech Club and National Forensic League

Standing: D. Brooks, Sec.-Treas. of Speech Club; M. A. Smith, Pres. of N.F.L.; H. Stout, Speech Point Keeper and Sec.-Treas. of N.F.L.; S. Wilson, Vice-Pres. of N.F.L.

Seated: A. Wilkie, Speech Club Pres.; D. Deam, Vice-Pres. of Speech Club

Howdy, Stranger! Anything we kin do fur ye? We've got our cache of gold in speech work. We National Forensic League and Speech Club members even point out each other's speech faults. Then we set about correcting them. With the help of our sponsor, Mr. Sellers, we have turned out some mighty fine speakers. You've heard, no doubt, about our contests, our Junior Town Meeting Debate with Bluffton, and our special meetings after school.

Dramatics Class

Top Row: W. Horn, J. Watkins, L. Burns, B. Wickliffe, D. Brooks, D. Goss, R. Belbutowski, W. James, D. Kortokrax, K. Woodcox, C. German, N. Schlemmer

Bottom Row: S. Scherer, L. A. Rutherford, D. DePue, C. Richard, C. Sherwood, J. Kinerk, M. Work, C. Link, J. Hanes, P. Beaman, H. Stout, J. Greer, S. Giffin

At Christmas time the dramatics class and the Glee Club reproduced an ancient religious mystery honoring the Babe of Bethlehem. Reading plays and producing one-act plays kept them busy the rest of the semester. Under Mr. Seller's direction, these overland stage characters put on a musical revue, "The Trojan Sketchbook." This netted a nice profit for band uniforms.

Standing: Rex Corbitt, Lowell Kronmiller, Marvin Waldrop, Ronnie High, Don Coty, John Shappell, Bob Greer, Irvin Gaunt, Frank Walker, Andrew Piatt, John Weisenburger

Sitting: Glenn Meyer, Eugene Avery, Tony Manes, Tom Kunnecke, Tom Weisenburger, Byron Yoquelet, Coach Cruse

Achievement

August 13, 1849

We are near our goal (if not our gold), for we are in Diggings already. While toiling along up the west fork of the Carson, we heard some men in an outfit ahead of us yip out, "Quack, Quack!" to the discomfiture of those who had been fooled by Fool's Gold. (The one superficial way to test is with the teeth.) The grains adhered.

Gold! Live gold — gold right out of the pan.

Here within sight of our next impossibility, Carson Pass, we spent the night. But here, and to us on these mountains, there is a great cry of conquest and victory in that simple expression, "We crossed the Summit."

August 14 — We now come to a break in the wall like a gateway; through this we pass, and in an instant the New World of California bursts at once upon our impatient sight.

September 15 — It is now midday and the heat of the sun is quite intolerable to all but salamanders; finding in our machines about four dollars value of gold to twenty buckets full of earth, we discontinue our labors for the day.

And so we leave the old-timers of the wagon train. Diggings! Much or little? Three ounces per week? Count the dollars! At one last meeting of our overland campaigners, let us see what they have chalked up. Let us look at those who made E Club, those who won laurels and those Forty-Niners themselves — the seniors. Let us turn the pages of their Achievement.

The way to the West was long and hard, but the pioneers of 1849 finally arrived at their destination. Similarly, the road to Achievement presented many difficulties; but by following tradition, the Trojan Forty-Niners came through with flying colors.

The memories of this journey have been gathered by the Anlibrum staff. Senior editors in charge of collecting the memories of the '49ers were J. Terry, N. Jones, P. Beaman, J. Greer, D. Baughman, D. Kortokrax and L. Burns. Editors in charge of the struggling journey of the underclassmen were P. Haag, L. Stoner, B. Babbs, and D. Summers. The preservers of our sports memories were F. German and D. Young while J. Kinerk, M. Hewes, P. Scott and E. Bastian collected the memories of the clubs. H. Boroff and J. Ford handled the finances, with the help of E. Feighner, P. Scott and B. Schweppe as home room agents. D. Beck, D. Knepper M. A. Smith, J. Watkins, D. Kortokrax, L. Burns, D. Goss, B. Hamilton, R. Ware, J. Terry, and P. Scott recorded the memories by helping the photographer, Mr. Smith. M. A. Smith, D. Beck, J. Terry and N. Jones headed the staff as co-editors. Miss Falls led the staff on the trail. To the subscribers, the '49ers proudly present this, their greatest treasure, the golden memories of the year.
